REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

For Sheriff,
ANDREW C. ROACH.For Recorder,
R. S. SWEET.For Commissioner,
MARSHALL R. GORRILL.For Infirmary Director,
ALBERT BUCK.

McAllister's balloon ascension that didn't go up and the Maumee ball team that can't play are very much on the same order.

This year's crops are likely to be so large that Secretary Wilson will be unable to find language equal to a description of the farmers' prosperity.

Wizard Edison will not be doing the common people much of a service by making automobiles cheaper. They are plentiful enough now to keep the masses busy dodging.

The New Mexican earthquakes are supposed by some to be caused by the rolling of rocks under the mountains. Why not be real clever and imagine that some of the gods of the underworld are having a game in the bowling alley?—Ex.

Let every Republican go to the polls on Friday and vote for the men he desires to have nominated on the Republican county ticket. Don't stay at home and kick if someone is nominated whom you think should not have the office.

Farmers are frequent heavy losers at this time of year by having their barns, which are filled with grain and hay, burned to the ground, the result of being struck by lightning during electrical storms that are likely to occur at almost any time. Farmers should see that their property is properly insured in some reliable company. Statistics also prove that barns protected by lightning rods are immune from this disaster.

An enormous Lutheran tabernacle will be erected at Rye Beach next year by William Bruns, owner of that popular summer resort, who is a member of the Lutheran church. The tabernacle will be used for holding the yearly general mass meetings of the Lutherans. Mr. Bruns agreed to erect the building if the Lutherans would hold their yearly meetings in it for the next five years. The agreement was entered into and a building capable of seating at least 1500 people will be built.

We are always thankful for items handed in regarding the movements of self, friends and neighbors, and it is a good sign that you are sufficiently interested in your local paper to do so. In giving us the news please do not wait until Thursday morning with matter that can be phoned or handed in on Tuesday or Wednesday. The placing in type of a lot of belated matter on Thursday morning delays the printing of the paper. Give us your items not later than Wednesday noon if possible.

How tame it seemed. We mean the primary convention. There was no brass band; no crowd; no march down to the grove; no introduction of Chairman; no hot air speech; no scramble to get on the committee; no heavy work done in grinding out resolutions that "Resolve; that we are the people;" and the hundred and one events that go to make up a day of hustle and excitement that furnishes food for thought and sometimes a few cuss words for many weeks after. Oh, it certainly does seem as though one of the big days had been taken off the calendar.

Wheat prospects are the most flattering in a number of years past. Its present condition is reported at 99 per cent, compared with an average, a gain of 2 points over estimated prospects July 1st. Not a county in the state reports prospect at less than 99 per cent, while 36 counties estimate that the yield will be a full average, or better. As stated in previous reports, the area seeded was far below an average, but with the promising prospect now reported the average yield per acre should be so heavy as to bring the total production well up to an average crop. Ohio's heaviest wheat crop for the past five years was in 1902, when on 2,654,588 acres there was produced 36,901,212 bushels. The estimated area seeded for this year's harvest is 188,121 acres less than the area for that crop.

The Republican Primary convention is over, and the experiment which the people demanded has been tried and found to be about the same as any other system so far as results are concerned. The voting was done mostly by the people in the towns, the farmers not seeming to take much more interest than they did in the delegate conventions. Down in East Ross they only cast seven votes, while last year they had eight votes in the delegate convention. The system gives every man a chance, and if he fails to take advantage of it, he has no one to blame but himself. A good ticket has been nominated and every Republican in the county had an opportunity to express his personal wish regarding the selection, therefore there is no room to make complaint of unfairness.

Despite the many things written to the contrary, these are gloomy days in San Francisco. The disposition to leave the city continues, and while the optimistic people claim that there are more than 100,000 persons there now others believe that 70,000 would be nearer the mark. No official report has been made to get at the exact figures. An early boom in real estate has quite subsided. The strike of the coast sailors, the plumbers and the struck drivers has proved a most discouraging element in the situation. Still further to depress the outlook, landlords are raising rents, merchants are raising prices, and the cost of building material is doubling. Meanwhile Seattle is reaping great advantage from San Francisco's disaster and is going ahead with great strides. Oakland is also prospering, and her business leaders are trying to get a lot of San Francisco's business, on the claim that Oakland has the water frontage and the railroad facilities. The problem of the great relief fund at San Francisco is still most difficult to handle, and the many complications of the situation increase rather than diminish.

AZTEC ARCHITECTURE.

Wonderful Endurance of the Old Mexican Buildings.

The Mexicans or the Aztec Indians can give the people of the United States lessons in architecture and in solid construction of buildings. There are buildings standing today in the City of Mexico that have stood for three centuries and are in an excellent state of preservation. There is not a frame building in the city. There are a few adobe, but most all are stone, brick or cement. There is a brick building down in the old part of the town that was erected prior to 1450.

It shows that so long ago as that the Indians were experts in the manufacture of bricks. But probably 80 per cent of all the buildings are made of concrete cement. Cement and concrete have been used successfully in Mexico for 500 years, and all the cathedrals and churches are of that material. On the line of the Vera Cruz Pacific can be seen the ruins of Toro Bravo, where there are evidences of a city ruined centuries ago. There are some twenty pyramids of solid cement which must have been erected over 500 years ago. One of these pyramids is 170 feet in height, and on the summit rests a cement lodge thirty feet in diameter. This, as well as others, is of filigree work and carved statuary.

Near this stands another of white limestone, built in four terraces, with carvings and ornamentations which would put to shame the modern American sculptor. It has stood all these centuries, yet the limestone is much easier broken than the cement. Think of a town of almost 400,000 persons, and the fire record is three in one year. The inside walls of many of the buildings are as much as six feet through, and all buildings are built around courts. There is no provision in any of them for fires, and at the present time small coal oil stoves are selling in the city for $20—the same that sell for $3 in the states. The floors are of stone, the ceilings of filigree cement, the walls of coarse plaster and almost without exception hand painted. The architecture on many buildings in the republic shows that the Indian of centuries ago was ahead of the modern builder of today. —Hobart. News-Record.
